Start-Up Nation

Israel is often dubbed “the Start-up Nation” due to its economic miracle. The young small country produces start-up companies as if it was a gigantic country with abundant resources.

In the second quarter of 2012 only, 199 Israeli start-ups were founded.

Since the Israeli State was established, it never stopped growing and developing, while investing efforts in science, technology and several other sectors.

Electronic devices, computer software, biomed, transport, chemistry, physics... are only a few examples of Israeli achievements.

Newspapers worldwide regularly review Israeli companies, their technologies and inventions and Israeli lecturers are invited to international conferences to present their ideas and the many R&D partnerships.
